1. The Reich Labor Service (RAD) camp at Trebbin (N 53/2 71) contains the former Schuetzenhaus (riflemen's clubhouse); 3 two-story apartment houses, each being about 35 meters long; 2 or 3 low wooden barracks, each about 50 meters long; 4 wooden garages, each capable of sheltering about 8 vehicles; and 1 two-section wooden garage for about 10 vehicles. The camp seemed to be occupied to capacity on 6 June 1951. All personnel observed, including officers and sentries, wore red-bordered black epaulets with artillery insignia. A total of about 220 troops were seen at various activities. Three rocket launchers, including [REDACTED] were noticed in the camp area. *
2. Former SS Camp Glau is between the localities of Glau and Blankensee, about 5 km northwest of Trebbin. Only about 20 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets, including some with artillery insignia, were seen in the camp on 6 June. About 25 soldiers, also wearing red-bordered black epaulets with artillery insignia, practiced stringing telephone lines in the environs of the camp. Vehicles observed on the Trebbin-Glau
